

SHORT NOTES ON MINES AND MINERALS

As per the proceedings of the Director of Geology and Mining Chennai in Rc.No.PM3/8998/99 dated: 02.02.2000, the following posts are deployed to form a separate office for Thoothukudi District was formed and it was hereby functioned at Thoothukudi Collectorate with effect from 11.02.2000 with the following staff pattern:

Sl.No.	Designation	No. of Post sanctioned
1.	Assistant Director	1
2.	Assistant Geologist	1
3.	Spl. Revenue Inspector	2 (1 Vacant)
4.	Junior Assistant	1
5.	Office Assistant	1

Location of the area

Thoothukudi District is situated at the south Eastern end of the Tamil Nadu. This District is bounded by Tirunelveli District on the west, Virudhunagar District on the North, Ramanathapuram District on the Northeast and Gulf of Manner on the East.

Geology and occurrence of Minerals deposits

Rock types found in the area belong to the Khondalite and Charnockite groups and Migmatite Complex of Easter Ghats Super group (Archaean Age), which are unconformably overlain by Tertiary and Quaternary sediments. Garnet-biotite-sillimanite gneiss, quartzite, calc-granulite and limestone of Khondalite Group with epidiorite, occurring as narrow linear bands. Charnockite Group is represented by acid variants. These rocks types occur as xenoliths within the Migmatite Complex occupies a major part of the area, comprising medium grained hornblende-biotite gneiss and garnet-biotite gneiss. Grey and pink granite represent the last phase of granitic activity and occur as concordant intrusive bodies.

Find grained marine, calcareous sandstone and limestone and gritty sandstone intercalated with a pebble bed of Mio-Pliocene (Cuddalore Sandstone) unconformably overlies the Archaean. The pebble bed generally marks the contact between the sandstone and gneiss. An interesting assemblage of fossils such as Lamellibranches, Gastropods, Corals and Foraminifera is found in the sedimentary rocks. The beds are more or less horizontal or dip gently towards the East.

Quaternary sediments occur along the river valley and the East Coast. They are grouped into fluvial-marine, Aeolian and marine. Calcareous sandstone and siliceous limestone of Quaternary age unconformably overlies the Tertiary sediments marked by a conglomerate. The calcareous sandstone is interbedded with limestone. The rocks are coarse grained, poorly consolidated and friable with recent marine shells of which Ostrea Sp. is the most common. A conglomerate bed is noticed at the base of these sediments in contact with Archaeans. Kankar and tuffaceous occur in number of detached outcrops. The rocks occur as massive beds of sheet tufa resulting from segregation of lime bleached out of the underlying garnet gneiss. Thick alluvium occurs along the banks of Tamirabarani and Vaippar rivers and along the coast. Red 'teri' sands represent Aeolian deposits. They occur as small dunes and cappings.

The general trend of the foliation in Archaean rocks in NNW-SSE to NNE-SSW with moderate to steep dips towards east. The foliation in the result of the tight folding. The gneiss of Migmatite Complex is folded along NNW-SSE axis. Rocks of Miocene age are nearly horizontal.

Gypsum, limestone, beach sand, kankar and shell limestone are the economic minerals of the District.

Ilmenite-garnet sand:

It occurs at the mouth of Vaippar and Kallar rivers. they extend over a length of 3.2 to 48 km and a width of 122m. Red garnet sands occur between the south of Ovari and Mavaladi. The proportion of garnet is 75% in the rich Kodambakkam Tank, Tiruchendur Taluk. Good purchase of Ilmenite sand occurs at Thiruvaikulam, which extend over 3.2km. The belt containing good concentrates varies from 1.5 to 30.5m in width.

Concentration of heavy minerals has also been reported from Ovari-Mavaladi-Athangarai breaches.

Lime Shell

Lime Shell with 50-55% CaO is known from the Coastal tracks of Thoothukudi and Srivaikundam Taluks.

Gypsum and Salt

Gypsum associated with Kankar has been reported from a few localities. Gypsum is a by-product in the salt pans, located along the East Coast between Veppalodai and Ayyanapuram.

Mica

ENE of Kovilpatti, Pegmatite shows incidence of mica.

The limestone is available in the following areas:

1. Arasur, in Sattankulam Taluk
2. Semma Pudur in Ettaiyapuram Taluk
3. Usilankulam in Kovilpatti Taluk
4. Sivalarpatti, Meenakshipuram, K.Kumarareddiyarpuram in Vilathikulam Taluk.
5. Kankar deposit is available in Maniyakkaranpatti, Vilathikulam Taluk in Thoothukudi District.

16 Limestone mining leases were granted in Thoothukudi District. M/S. India Cements Ltd., M/S. Madras Cements Ltd., are the two Major Lessees having limestone leases. The remaining leases belong to private persons.

Three leases were granted for mining Garnet, Ilmenite, & Rutile in Thoothukudi District to the following lessees.

(1)Tvl. Indian Garnet Sand (P) Ltd.,

(2)Tvl. Beach Minerals Sand Company, Kuttam

(3) Tvl. V.V.Mineral, Tisaiyanvilai

MINOR MINERALS

Rough stone, Jelly, Sand, Gravel, Clay, Earth and Granite are the minor minerals and leases are granted for quarrying of the said minerals in Thoothukudi District.

Rough stone, Jelly is used for construction of buildings, road, etc. Clay and Earth are used for manufacturing bricks and filling materials. Gravel is used to form the road and filling purpose.
